DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-34 are pending.
2. Applicant's RESPONSE from Paper No. 11 received September 15, 2003 has been reviewed. Pursuant to the RESPONSE, the previous rejection of claims 1-34 from Paper No. 9 mailed January 9, 2003 is withdrawn. The Examiner is cognizant of the prosecution history of the present Application and desires compact prosecution. However, the present Office Action is deemed warranted due to the discovery of the new reference cited below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. Claims 1-34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Forster et al., US 6,580,357.

Forster discloses a radio frequency identification device (RFID) 10, 20, having a memory 108, attached in a compartment 13, 14, 16, 18 to reusable containers 30 having one or more consumer product goods provided in the containers, where the goods are provided to customers. Forster does not explicitly disclose collecting the reusable containers from the customers.

However, Forster does disclose the tracking of a location of the containers 30, e.g. col. 4, lines 13-33, not limited to a factory or distribution facility. It is noted that the returning and tracking of beer kegs to a common collection point is well known in the art. To have provided tracking the reusable containers from customers for Forster would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art. Doing such would implement a method for which the RFID device of Forster is designed to solve, e.g. the whereabouts of the empty/full kegs, a common dilemma for beer distributors or retail outlets in many jurisdictions. The particular accounting mechanism used to track the kegs is deemed within the purview of Forster.
